Introduction · Workbook answers

Welcome

Video: 4 min Answer sheet

A short welcome to the course: why it is offered, what the six modules cover, and how to commit to it so that you get the most benefit.

Answer sheet: the answers are in red. The reflection questions are personal, so your own answers will be in your own words and from your own life. These model answers show what the session teaches, to guide and check your thinking.

Key teachings

1. Why the course is offered
   The course is fully subsidised: its costs are covered by the people who deliver it. After many years of coaching (over 30,000 students through Diet Specialist), the team wanted to give something back that helps with life as a whole, not just nutrition.

2. Treat it as if you had paid for it
   Imagine you had paid £1,000 or £5,000 for this course, with limited time to finish it. What would your commitment be? Do not leave it for later just because it costs you nothing.

3. The six modules
   1. Values, the basis of the direction of your life. 2. Identity, which drives your decisions. 3. Setting goals. 4. Achieving change. 5. Maintaining balance. 6. Practical application of everything you have learnt.

4. You are not alone
   You are part of a supportive community who want you to succeed and are there to help you on the journey of life.

What past students said

> Quality content and delivery, I have paid for courses with less before.
> Feedback from the first cohort

> The course literally takes you to a different paradigm and makes you refocus your life.
> Feedback from the first cohort

Practical exercises

Set your intention

1. Write down why you are taking this course.
2. Write what you hope will be different in your life when you have finished.
3. Choose a regular time each week when you will watch the next module.

Reflection questions and answers

1. If you had paid £1,000 for this course, what would you do differently to make sure you completed it?

> The welcome asks you to imagine you had paid £1,000 or £5,000, with limited time to finish, and to bring that same commitment even though the course is fully subsidised. A good answer names practical changes rather than good intentions. For example: "I would book a fixed time each week to watch the next module, keep a notebook ready, and not let it slide just because it cost me nothing."

2. Which of the six module topics (values, identity, goals, change, balance, practical application) do you feel you need most right now, and why?

> The six modules are values (the direction of your life), identity (which drives your decisions), setting goals, achieving change, maintaining balance, and the practical application of everything you have learnt. A strong answer picks one and links it to something real in your life now. For example: "Module 4, achieving change. I already know a lot, but I keep starting things and not finishing them."

3. Who in your life could support you as you go through the course?

> The course reminds you that you are not alone: you are part of a supportive community who want you to succeed and are there to help you on the journey of life. Think about both that community and the people close to you. For example: "My sister, who will ask me each week how the module went, and the course community, where I can share and ask questions when I get stuck."

My action plan

- [ ] I have a notebook and pen ready for each module.
- [ ] I have chosen a weekly time to watch the modules.
- [ ] I have joined the community so I can share and ask questions.
- [ ] I will start Module 1: What are your values?
